Islamic Studies, Arabic, and Quran Curriculum Overview

Revised August 2020

RELIGIOUS STUDIES CURRICULA OVERVIEW

INTRODUCTION

The main objective of Everest's Religious Studies Program is to build a strong Muslim identity based on Quran and teachings of Prophet Mohammed (peace be upon him). Our Religious Studies Program is unique and comprehensive. Its curricula encompass Arabic, Quran, and Islamic studies; and focuses on understanding of Quranic language, Islamic morals, values, and ideals. We hope that with this foundation, students will continually seek knowledge, think critically, and become successful Muslim Americans.

Instructional resources used are designed for Muslims in the West to meet their unique learning needs; and ensure that students learn about Quranic Language, faith, worship obligations, history, and relevance to their daily life according to their level of maturity and understanding.

Our Religious Studies coursework covers the following areas of study:

Quran Reading and Memorization: Quran is the Holy Book of Islam in which Allah (SWT) has revealed all His teachings to the Muslims. It is every Muslim's duty to read the Quran with correct tajweed (intonation), understand meaning, and apply in everyday life. Memorizing whole or at least parts of the Quran is very important for Muslims; it is also a requirement for Salah. At Everest Academy, students are introduced to the essentials of tajweed from prekindergarten level and are gradually transitioned towards enhancing their recitation of the Quran. Prekindergarten through second grades study and memorize certain surahs from the Quran with emphasis on reading with tajweed, fluency, and accuracy. From third grade and up, students are placed in an individualized Hifz program where each student proceeds with memorization according to speed and ability.

Tafseer: Students are taught tafseer or exegesis of the ayahs that are taught for memorization in order to gain true understanding of Quran, relate such teachings to their everyday life, and implement the lessons learned in their daily practices. Teachers explain vocabulary in each ayah and hence enrich students' Quranic vocabulary.

Beliefs and Worship: Students learn about the six articles of faith and the five pillars of Islam. They are also introduced to their Islamic rights, obligations, and procedures for their implementation.

Islamic History: Students learn about prophets and other stories mentioned in the Quran. They study the life of Prophet Mohammed (peace be upon him) as well as the thirty years that followed his death, known as the rightly guided Caliphate. Students are also introduced to some key events occurring in the lifetime of some eminent prophets from Adam (As) to Mohammad (peace be upon him), companions of Prophet Mohammed (peace be upon him), and other important Islamic figures.

Manners and Morals: Students learn about Islamic code of morals, manners, and ethics. They are guided towards developing high Islamic values as practiced in fulfilling the rights of Allah (Huqooq-ullah) and rights of people (Huqooq-ulibaad). Students are taught the rationale, procedure, and implications of such Islamic morals as respect for parents, elders, and teachers; kindness, cleanliness, sound eating habits, Islamic greetings, dress code, manners in the mosque, and so forth. Students are also instructed on actions to be avoided, such as backbiting, boasting, jealousy, and miserliness. Reading and studying stories are an integral part of this component of Islamic studies curricula.

Memorization of Duas (supplications): Students are introduced to the Sunnah way of performing routine tasks. They are taught to memorize relevant duas and recite them at appropriate times.

Qaeda: Students are taught the 'Qaeda Nooraniyyah' with explanation of rules for fluent reading of the Holy Quran; the book 'Noor Al-Bayan is used as supplementary resource. It is our goal to have each student master the Qaeda by second grade with correct tajweed and fluency.

Arabic as a Second Language: Students learn Arabic through a book series which aims to elevate the students speaking, listening, reading and writing skills. The students are exposed to around 1,500 vocabulary word throughout the series with the emphasis on using lots of pictures to avoid the need for translation. Moreover, the students are exposed to the basic grammar rules and expressions. Our teachers are using various techniques to teach the content like songs, stories, coloring and drawing activities, building online games and collaborative activities.
